11h00 Round Table

Free access, healthcare quality and sustainability

This round table aims to discuss key issues for the hospital sector and to analyse these issues at European level:

- Free access and freedom of choice are fundamental values for patients in the health sector. To think about the free choice means thinking about patients mobility following the non-adoption of a European directive.
- The high quality of health care represents a major value for our sector. However there are different systems and different quality and accreditation controls from one country to another one. Should private hospitals define sector specific criteria in this field?
- Sustainability and recognition by Member States of the delivery of services of general interest by private hospitals and, finally, the need of a fair and adapted funding.

Presentation: Mr John BOWIS, President of Health First Europe, former Minister for Health of the United Kingdom

13h00 Cocktail lunch

14h30 Round Table

Why Europe needs private hospitals

This round table will aim to debate about the capacity for private hospitals to respond to the current and future hospital needs of European citizens. In all Member States, the public sector has got problems adapting itself to constant and increasing demands of citizens who are more and better informed. These adaptation difficulties in the public sector are about both quantitative and qualitative issues. Private enterprise is an important resource in our society. Can it respond to the population needs in the private hospital sector? Can it take forward the current health challenges?
